The Noah Worcester Dermatological Society's is a small national dermatological organization characterized by scientific programs of high caliber and close association among its members. The membership is selectively limited to assure intimacy and high academic standards of the scientific program.

The national Society is named for Noah Worcester, the author of the first American textbook on Dermatology, published in 1845. The first meeting of the Society was held in 1958 and annual meetings have been held each year since.

Mission

Education: Provide members with cutting-edge medical education and opportunities to earn CME credit.

Leadership & Mentorship: Noah's relatively small, close-knit society provides an excellent platform for younger dermatologists to interact with and learn from more experienced, senior colleagues.

Philanthropy: In its 60-year history, Noah has provided grants to leading medical schools and departments of dermatology to further education and fund skin disease research. The Society also regularly contributes to the Dermatology Foundation, Camp Discovery, and other charitable organizations.

Get to Know Us

The Noah Worcester Dermatological Society is a small, unique organization comprised of the most respected and visible thought leaders in dermatology. Since our first Annual Meeting in 1958, Noah has offered our members and industry benefactors exceptional educational programming and the opportunity for physicians to earn continuing medical education (CME) credit. But that's not what makes our Society special - for our members and industry friends, Noah is a family, and the intimate, collegial atmosphere of our Society is unlike that of any other group.

The Best & The Brightest in Dermatology

Noah's membership is a diverse mix of researchers, private practitioners, clinicians, and academics, who hold some of the most highly visible positions in the dermatologic community, including department chairs, professors of dermatology, American Academy of Dermatology (AAD) officers and board members, and editors of major journals.

Noah membership is limited to assure close association among our members and to maintain the high academic standards of our scientific programs. New members are carefully recruited annually by invitation only.

CME is provided by the National Association for Continuing Education (NACE) for AMA PRA Category 1 Credits[™].

Noah Benefactors & Corporate Members

Benefactors and Corporate Members are an important part of the Noah family and the financial support they provide is critical to the advancement of our mission. Noah members deeply appreciate industry participation and its support of programming that helps clinicians and academics meet their professional education needs.

Some benefits for benefactors and corporate members include:

- Full participation in all scientific sessions and receptions at Noah's Annual Meeting.
- Invitation to attend our private reception, held annually at the American Academy of Dermatology (AAD) Annual Meeting.
- Special recognition in the Annual Meeting on-site program and between lectures and sessions.
- Direct contact with Noah members in an intimate setting.
- Recognition at our Salute to Benefactors reception at our Annual Meeting, an entire evening dedicated to our industry friends and their commitment to Noah's mission.
- Invitation to a private reception at the Annual Meeting, with Noah's officers.

Unparalleled One-on-One Access to Dermatology Leaders

The close-knit atmosphere at Noah events offers Benefactors and Corporate Members a unique opportunity to directly interact with top leaders in the dermatology field. At the Annual Meeting you will enjoy full access to the entire range of meeting activities and are treated as family members, providing an abundance of opportunities for relationship building. Access of this caliber is nearly impossible to find in other dermatologic organizations.

As a Noah supporter, your company representatives are full meeting participants and are eligible for many exciting benefits.
